Class Descriptions and Qualifications:

(not all of these classes may be offered in any given session)

AGILITY - you've seen it on TV, now experience it yourself! Agility is simply the most athletic and fun bonding activity to do with your dog, period. I compete with all 3 of my dogs, all of them excelling at the top levels in various venues. I also conduct agility seminars across the country, am an agility judge for several venues, and continually strive to keep up to date on all the latest positive teaching and handling techniques.

Puppy Prep: (7 months of age & younger). If you're planning to do dog sports with your puppy, then this class is for you! We'll help you teach your dog: focus work; sit, down and stay; navigating through/over/under weird objects (for future agility work); crate games; and massage & handling. Of course we'll also include puppy playtime for socialization!

Agility 101: The beginning of the fun - we'll teach your dog to jump through hoops, literally! You'll get an introduction to the wonderful world of dog agility. Obstacles plus foundation for future agility classes are taught. Must have taken A Well Mannered Dog, Puppy Prep, or have permission of instructor.

Beyond Beginners Agility: Must have taken and passed Agility 101 class. Students will work to full height on equipment; plus sequencing & jumping skills, and basic handling.

Linda Mecklenburg's Jumping Foundations: In this class, we will be following step by step the training steps in Linda Mecklenburg's "Developing Jumping Skills" book. We will teach our dogs how to be better jumpers; how to collect and extend over jumps, switch from one mode to the other seamlessly, and have better jumping form. Included in this class will be basic foundation drills as well as upper level collection, extension, and mixed jumping exercises. Any level dog can benefit from this class

Focus Work: Backyard Dogs and More: This class will work shorter sequences, similar to those found in Cleanrun magazine's "Backyard Dogs" column, focusing on fine tuning handling where each skill can be perfected. Each week we'll take a different obstacle setup and turn it into manageable, fun handling exercises.

Intermediate Agility: Approval of Instructor; must be comfortable on all contacts (see saw can be at a lower height) and have made progress on weave poles training. Weave poles worked to straight up and see-saw to full height; plus crosses and other handling moves, obstacle discrimination and contact proofing, and course analyzing skills.

Competition Agility: Currently competing in any venue(s). Must be able to perform all obstacles at full height, including a set of 6 weave poles.

Agility Handling Class: sequences and short courses using all/some of the equipment. We will be focusing on such things as weave pole entries, discriminations, silent running, even running other people's dogs!

- open to any dog that is currently competing at any level or getting ready to compete; intermediate level or above

RALLY OBEDIENCE - the newest dog sport, combining elements of traditional obedience, agility (no two courses are the same), and freestyle (it looks like a dance when you do it right!). APDT has been holding competitions since 2001, and my dog Crystal was one of the first 22 to obtain the Rally Level 1 title the first weekend a trial was ever held; AKC began holding Rally trials in 2005. Rally is judged similar to traditional obedience, but you can praise, talk to, and encourage your dog as much as you want, and the exercises are more varied and just plain fun to perform!!

Introduction to Rally Obedience: For dogs who have not taken obedience class(es) or have not passed the CGC test.

Intermediate Rally Obedience: For dogs who have taken classes or competed in obedience, who have passed the CGC test, or have previously taken a Rally Obedience class.

Canine Good Citizen (CGC) - an AKC program to show that your dog is a good citizen in society. Any dog, purebred or mixed breed, can take the test and get the title. This 5 week program includes the test fee, and takes you through the exercises that will be on the test, building on the skills needed each week to give you the best chance possible to pass!

Pet Obedience – for owners who want a well-behaved dog, but who aren't looking to go into the obedience competition ring. Heeling, attention, and stays will be the main skills taught, mixed liberally with fun!
